

MEXICAN INSURGENTS SPRING SURPRISE---WILL AID HUERTA

Denounce Seizure of Vera Cruz.

ASK WITHDRAWAL OF AMERICAN FORCES

General Carranza Intimates United States Is Warring on All Mexico.

Washington, April 23.—General Carranza's note to President Wilson declaring the seizure of Vera Cruz by American forces a violation of the national sovereignty of Mexico, inviting the United States to suspend hostile operations and withdraw its forces and suggesting that the constitutional government should receive demands for partial offenses committed by Huerta, stirred the Mexico situation to a new and acute crisis.

The opposition to the American government's action, coming from an unexpected quarter after the Washington administration had hoped for an attitude of neutrality and passive observation from the constitutionalists, brought the government face to face with possible hostility from the great body of Mexican forces lying in proximity to the southern tier of the United States.

Secretary Bryan received the Carranza note at his home. He did not comment on it. Secretary Garrison and Assistant Secretary Breckinridge, who were waiting at the war department, were given copies of the message. Secretary Tumulty, who was asleep, hurried to the war department, chief of staff of the army, was summoned to join the conference. President Wilson, who had retired early, was awakened and told of the situation.

Precautions Against Uprisings.
Rumors of a possible restoration of the embargo on arms were revived and it was believed this was the subject of the war department conference. Precautions against uprisings on the border as a possible result of Carranza's opposition to the American government's course were also to be under consideration.

The joint army and navy board, it is understood, recommended the restoration of the embargo on arms into Mexico.

While Mexican representatives of Carranza here professed to see a tone of friendliness to the United States in the note of their chief its blunt request for the withdrawal of the American forces from Vera Cruz and its virtual demand for recognition of the rebels as representing the constitutional government of Mexico injected phases which made administration of officials manifestly uneasy.

Plans thus far made by the army and navy board to secure reprisals from Huerta had contemplated no move along the American border, as it was not desired to make any demonstration that might be regarded by the constitutionalists as directed toward them. Should hostility develop among the constitutionalists who are in control along the Mexican boundary of the United States plans of the army will be changed immediately.

Creates Grave Problem.
The knowledge that Carranza, while refusing to make common cause with Huerta, might be disposed of his own initiative to resent the acts of the American government, made the problem admittedly more grave than it has ever been.

Carranza pointed out that the seizure of Vera Cruz would be regarded as a hostile act by the Mexican people and that it was advisable for the United States to withdraw its troops from Vera Cruz as soon as practicable. Carranza agreed with President Wilson that Huerta did not represent the Mexican nation, but on the other hand, feared the Mexican people might be inflamed and drawn into a conflict which would make them sacrifices to the usurpations of Huerta.

The note, it was admitted by many officials, was capable of a friendly construction, but there was some doubt expressed that the subordinate officers under General Carranza might not be so conservative. Apprehension over this situation was manifest in many quarters.

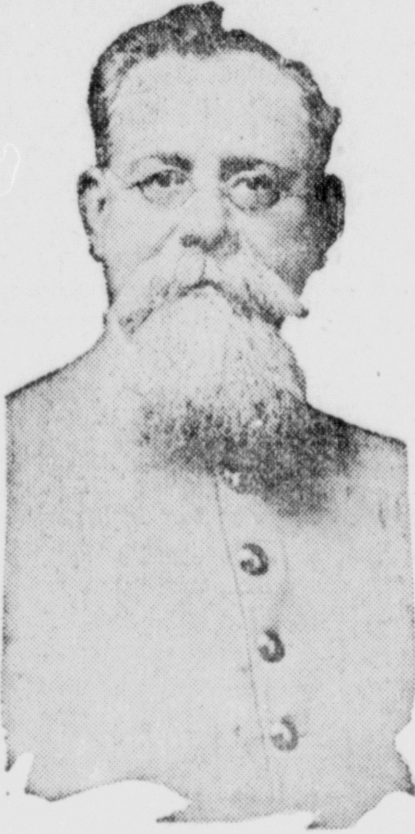

"The invasion," says the message, "will drag us (Mexico) into an unequal war with dignity, but which we desired to avoid."

President Wilson had disclaimed especially any act of hostility to the Mexican people, particularly General Huerta as the object of the American operations to secure reprisal for offenses at Tampico and elsewhere against the American flag. Consequently the Washington government had hoped the constitutionalists would remain silent and not interfere themselves in the imbroglio.

had presented in his message and the receipt of details of the fighting at Vera Cruz were the chief developments.

Officials expressed themselves as greatly pleased with the promptness of Rear Admiral Fletcher's forces in taking possession of Vera Cruz and restoring order there.

Future steps are uncertain. The president has determined that his course shall be gradual. No orders have been issued to seize the customs house at Tampico. It is the purpose of the administration to keep order in Vera Cruz and await the full effect of the administration of the first act of reprisal by the American government.

There is every reason to believe that the railroad running inland from Vera Cruz for twenty miles, with a valuable trestle, will be policed by American marines and bluejackets. This section of the railroad is of supreme importance should future developments require a movement on Mexico City.

Beyond holding of Vera Cruz and this railroad the Washington government does not want to act at present, but persons in the confidence of the administration admit that action by Huerta or Carranza at any time may alter the plans completely.

Fears for Americans in Mexico City and other parts of the troubled republic are expressed in many quarters. The house promptly passed a bill appropriating $500,000 to care for refugees. The fact that nothing had been heard from Charge O'Shaughnessy for nearly forty-eight hours made President Wilson and Secretary Bryan very uneasy.

SHOWS EFFECT OF SLEEPLESS NIGHTS

President Wilson Takes a Nap in His Office.

Washington, April 23.—President Wilson's sleepless nights interrupted by telephone calls from state and navy department officials, his worry over the general situation and the responsibility of the present crisis were him out so completely that he took a nap in his office.

A member of the foreign relations house committee found him slumbering on a couch. The president awoke and they talked about Mexico. Presently Mr. Wilson's physician dropped in. He ordered a game of golf in the Virginia hills. The president went reluctantly.

The president went and Secretary Tumulty, who has averaged about five hours' sleep during the last few nights himself, stayed on watch at the White House for emergency developments.

TO SEIZE ARMS FOR HUERTA

United States Attorney in New York Orders Shipments Held Up.

New York, April 23.—All shipments of arms and ammunition that may be consigned from this port to the Huerta government in Mexico will be seized by the federal authorities, said H. Snowden Marshall, United States district attorney. No official instructions on this point have been received from Washington, Mr. Marshall said, but in view of the American blockade he deemed it wise to hold up shipments to all ports which the Mexican federalists have controlled.

TWELVE AMERICANS KILLED IN ACTION

Further Fighting Increases Casualties Among the Invaders of Mexico.

Washington, April 23.—Twelve Americans have been killed and fifty wounded in the occupation at Vera Cruz. This was announced in a dispatch from Rear Admiral Badger, made public by the navy department.

Vera Cruz, Mex., April 23.—The investment of Vera Cruz by the United States forces has been completed. The total American loss in taking possession of the Mexican port was six killed and about thirty wounded.

Rear Admiral Frank F. Fletcher has taken up his headquarters at the Terminal hotel. The entire city is strongly patrolled and quiet prevailed. Rear Admiral Fletcher is now in command of the land operations, while Rear Admiral Badger, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, has brought his flag into the harbor on the Minnesota.

After the general advance began Mexican snipers on the roofs put up a stubborn resistance. There was one brisk action, the guns of the Prairie and Chester assisting in silencing the heavy fire from the naval college, shells from the Prairie finally shattering the walls.

The number of Mexicans killed Tuesday is estimated at 150, with many wounded. The Mexican loss Wednesday is not known, but is thought to be heavy.

The paymaster of the British cruiser Essex, Albert W. Kimber, was wounded on board his ship by a sniper ashore.

The British bluejackets crowded to the bows and vociferously cheered the American marines as they proceeded ashore for the landing.

Foreign Ships Honor Dead.
The flags on the Essex and Fort San Juan de Ulue were half mast when the dead were carried to the boats.

Rear Admiral Badger has not decided whether to proceed to Tampico and it is believed his departure will be delayed. An indication of this is found in the fact that his flagship has entered the harbor.

Major Smedley D. Butler, with marines from the Prairie, made a sortie up the railway for a considerable distance.

Rear Admiral Fletcher ordered a general movement for the occupation of all the town. The bluejackets advanced and passed the uncompleted marketplace and naval college.

When they had reached the walls of the college a terrific rifle fire was poured in all directions from the roof and the windows. The bluejackets were helpless to return the fire. The Prairie, Chester and San Francisco opened with their five and six inch guns and shattered the stone walls. The bluejackets reformed and advanced against the fire, which had diminished greatly.

Battalions of bluejackets made their way along the water front to the southern end of the town and cleared several streets, but the sniping from the houses continued at intervals.

The scout cruiser Chester pounded buildings on the outskirts with six-inch shells, firing over the heads of the men ashore and showing almost perfect marksmanship.

ALGARA EXPECTING RECALL

Mexican Charge Is Ready to Leave Washington.

Washington, April 23.—Senor Algara, charge of the Mexican embassy here, having received messages from Mexico City intimating that he might be recalled at any minute, is in constant expectation that General Huerta would notify him to call at the state department and request his passports of Secretary Bryan.

In anticipation of his recall Senor Algara is getting his personal effects in shape so that he could leave the city promptly. A number of his friends among the diplomatic and social set called to express their regret at his expected departure. Mr. Algara, who was first secretary of the embassy, has been in charge of the mission for almost a year.

RED CROSS APPEALS FOR AID

Issues Statement Saying Generous Contributions Are Needed.

Washington, April 23.—The executive committee of the Red Cross issued this statement to the American people.

"In view of the Mexican situation and the duties and responsibilities that may develop upon the American Red Cross attention is called to the fact that, under the provisions of the treaty of Geneva and by presidential proclamation, any other society desiring to render assistance in caring for the wounded can do so only through the American Red Cross.

"Immediate preparations for fulfilling these duties are imperative. This will involve heavy expenditures and the Red Cross relies upon the public for generous contributions. They may be sent to local or state treasurers or to the Red Cross, Washington, D. C."

CREATES SENSATION IN AMERICAN COLONY

Tampico Residents Hear of Huerta's Attitude.

Tampico, Mex., April 20, via Galveston, April 23.—Notice was posted here early today in Consul Clarence Miller's office that Mexico had refused all of the American demands to salute the flag and that President Wilson had referred the matter to congress. The news produced a profound sensation in the American colony.

Many anxious inquiries poured in upon Mr. Miller as to what steps were being taken to furnish protection in case of a popular anti-American uprising. This was a peril feared as soon as the news of danger of intervention should become generally known among Mexicans.

The gravity of the situation here was increased by the issuance of orders today for all American merchant vessels to leave the river immediately and lie outside until further notice.

MAY USE REVENUE CUTTERS

Nine Ready to Sail at Short Notice to Assist in Blockade.

Washington, April 23.—Nine vessels of the revenue cutter service are held in readiness to proceed to Mexican waters to participate in the blockade of that coast. Treasury officials said that the ships might be ordered to Mexico at any hour and every one of them was prepared to start on thirty minutes' notice.

Each of the vessels carries a battery of three or four six-pounders, which easily may be increased, and a crew of about 100 men fitted for any duty.

FEDERAL GARRISON FLEES

Regulars Leave Nuevo Laredo to Join Mass' Forces.

Laredo, Tex., April 23.—Regular troops of the Mexican federal garrison at Nuevo Laredo entrained hurriedly for Saltillo where, it is understood, General Joaquin Maas, Jr., military commander of the Northern Mexican states, has ordered all Huerta forces in Northern Mexico to concentrate. Less than 500 irregulars and volunteers were left at Nuevo Laredo to hold the town.

COLORADO LABOR WAR

Entire State Militia Is Called Out for Duty.

Trinidad, Colo., April 23.—About thirty men, women and children, besieged in the Empire mine near Aguilar, with the mouth of stope caved in by dynamite explosions, face death by suffocation, according to H. D. King, one of the owners of the mine. King, himself practically a prisoner in his house not far from the mine, gave his story by long distance telephone.

Not a house or a stock of overhead workings was left standing in the camps, according to King. The mine tipple had been burned, but the interior of the mine had not been fired. If the fan has been put out of commission, as reported, Mr. King believes that the danger of suffocation was imminent.

In command of the besieged party was J. W. Siple of Denver, manager of the mines of the Northwestern Fuel company. Mrs. William Waddell and her baby were in the mine, one report stating that Mrs. Waddell had been wounded.

"I asked the strikers to permit me to go to the stope and rescue the besieged persons," said Mr. King. "They replied that any one who went near the mine would be shot."

Six Mine Employees Killed.

Six mine employees dead and two missing in addition to those who took refuge in the Empire and whose fate is unknown; several mining camps destroyed and others riddled with bullets; many additions to the list of dead, including two women, eleven children and one man at the Ludlow tent colony; less than two hundred militiamen and mine guards confronting an army of 400 striking coal miners—this was the situation on the third day in the Southern Colorado labor war.

The directors of the chamber of commerce of Trinidad wired to Governor Ammons, who is in Washington, demanding that if he is unable to give immediate and complete protection to property and noncombatants he invoke federal aid. A telegram of similar import was sent to President Wilson.

Word from Denver said every branch of service in the Colorado national guard has been ordered to entrain for Trinidad at once. Lieutenant Governor Stephen R. Fitzgerald issued a call for a special session of the state legislature to finance the maintenance of the militia in the strike zone, to meet in Denver on or before May 4.

Guards and Miners Clash.

Fighting at Delagua began with a clash between fifteen guards and a large body of miners. This clash occurred in the hills a mile or more from the camp, where the guards are declared to have gone to meet the approaching strikers. There was hot fighting at close range for a few minutes, then the guards retreated towards the camp, the pursuing strikers at their heels. The strikers reached the crest of the canyon directly above the camp, then rushed for the mine buildings.

Mine company reports declared that in this rushing dynamite was exploded by the attacking party.

A party of militiamen, hastily sent from Ludlow in steel cars, reinforced the guards and after heavy fighting the strikers were driven back.

Shortly afterwards a party of strikers appeared in the Aguilar district, separated from the Hastings-Delagua canon by a high range of hills. The assailants of Delagua in the meantime had vanished in the direction of Aguilar. The attacks on the Aguilar mines followed.

DULUTH MAN FOR GOVERNOR

Elwood L. Raab Becomes a Republican Candidate.

St. Paul, April 23.—Second choice votes may decide who is to be the Republican nominee for governor because of the unexpected filing of Elwood L. Raab, Duluth, for that position. With but two candidates—Governor Eberhart and William E. Lee—the field there would be no second choice space provided on the primary ballot, but with three in the race this is made necessary, and if the contest is close this vote may determine the result.

Raab is unknown at the capitol or in political circles. His only previous political experience was his unsuccessful effort to obtain the nomination for the state senate in the Forty-ninth district four years ago. He ran against J. P. Boyle of Eveleth, now a candidate for congress.

Lindbergh has filed again as a republican, according to a Washington dispatch under date of April 22d, and reserves the right to be a bull mooser, democrat or anything else that pleases him after he has been elected. The telegram says: "Representative Charles A. Lindbergh has filed for renomination to congress from the sixth district as a republican. Although Mr. Lindbergh has acted with the progressives all through the present congress, he declares in a pamphlet just issued that he does not accept any platform unless it is drafted by the people themselves. Suit has been entered in the district court by Louis S. Boo against Ernest Haglund, Boo alleging that he became the owner of lot 11 block 14 in Deerwood and that on November 9, 1911, the day he took possession, Haglund ousted him and that the value of the use of the property, its occupation and improvements amounts to $550, amount sued for. Victor L. Power of Hibbing, is his attorney.

Brainerd and the Cuyuna range produced more Mexican war excitement than the actual battleground. Out in Vera Cruz harbor Crosby reported the Alabama sunk and Brainerd had the Louisiana hitting the bottom of the ocean at 10 P. M. yesterday. Great excitement reigned. Happily all these events were pipe dreams. Harry L. Nicholson, of the Crosby Courier, came very near getting out an extra.

Daniel Frohman presents

Henry Dixey

In a thrilling detective story

'Chelsa 7750'

The Metropolitan Mystery

Henry E. Dixey, the famous "legitimate" star, one of the foremost favorites of the American stage, distinguishes "Chelsa 7750" by his convincing characterization of an eminent, able and conscientious detective. The play sounds every depth of the underworld, discloses its secrets, its methods and emotions, and penetrates the intricate labyrinths of the submerged half. In a relentless pursuit of a trained and resourceful gang of counterfeiters which later develops into an intense mental and physical contest, with many impending difficulties and heart-breaking disappointments, but which eventually culminates in a complete and decisive victory, Mr. Dixey is provided with one of the strongest parts which in all his versatile and extended career he has ever portrayed. Startling revelations, ingenious machinations and overwhelming climaxes crowd fast in thrilling succession; and through it all the mystery and fascination of the world that lives under cover

Interest at Union Revival Meetings
Continues Unabated, Attendance Increasing

CHORUS SINGING IS SPLENDID

Delegations from Deerwood, Crosby and Staples Expected to Attend Tabernacle Meetings

The interest at the union revival continues unabated. Sixty-seven conversions were secured during the invitation at the close of the sermon last night. The total number of converts to date is one hundred seventy-eight.

The first members of the large audience that attended the meeting last night began to arrive at the tabernacle as early as 6:30 o'clock. People were still coming in at ten minutes after eight when Evangelist Lowry took his text.

At 7 o'clock there was an unbroke procession of church goers, in many places walking four abreast, reaching from the First National bank corner on Front street to the tabernacle.

The early arrivals listened for a half hour to a splendid rehearsal of the chorus conducted by Prof. Moody.

The audience has begun to take much interest in the singing of the more familiar songs. Two active boys are engaged in selling the song books to those in the audience who desire them. The interest in the union revival is as wide as the city, as was evidenced in the character of the crowd present last night. There were present shop men with their families, young people from the high school, old people in wheel chairs many boys and girls, mothers with babies in covered cabs and many business men who in many instances come quite late. Some came in from the towns west of Brainerd and returned on the midnight train.

A delegation from Staples is expected to attend the revival in a body within a few days. Churches at Deerwood and Crosby are also arranging for delegations.

Friday will be railroad shopmen's day at the tabernacle. Special services will be conducted at the machine shop at noon with special music and a short address. At the night service in the tabernacle, seats will be reserved for the shop men and their families and Evangelist Lowry will give a short talk to them before the regular sermon. All railroad employees who wish to attend will meet at the Y. M. C. A. at 7 o'clock and at 7:30 march in a body to the tabernacle.

The tabernacle will be decorated in proper fashion in honor of the visit of the railroad men and special attention given them during the evening.

Last night the evangelist took for his text Num. 32:23, "Be sure your sins will find you out." Men may think they can go on in sin and not be found out but just as sure as this old world turns on its axis their sins will find them out sooner or later. No one ever committed any sin that he did not suffer for it.

You cannot separate sin and suffering. Wherever there is sin there is going to be suffering.

There are some things in life about which there are degrees of uncertainty; but of this you can be sure—your sins will find you out sooner or later. You are not sure that you will go down to your office or store tomorrow morning. You think you will but you are not certain of it. But you may be sure your sins will find you out. A man might just as well put his hand in the fire and then not expect to suffer for it, as to commit sin and think he can escape the consequences.

First you may be sure your sins will find you out by the laws of man. The laws in most places are very poorly enforced, but they will find a man out sooner or later. Very few criminals escape for very long.

Then everyone expects to be converted sooner or later and if the law has not found you out before, it will then. Even though you may be converted, that will not save you from the penalty of man's law.

Paul said in Acts 24:16 "Herein do I exercise myself to have a conscience void of offense toward God and toward men." You may accept Jesus Christ and have your sins forgiven, but that will not save you from the consequences of your sin so far as the laws of man are concerned.

While holding a series of meetings in a South Dakota town some time ago one night when we gave an invitation I noticed among those forward a young man with his head down, weeping bitterly. He never looked up during the whole time I was instructing the converts. When the service was dismissed I stepped down and asked the young man if he believed God had forgiven his sins. He said, "No". I said, "Why?" For a while he would not answer, but finally, after most of the people had gone out of the tabernacle, he opened his heart to me and told me how that six years before he had stolen $200 from a man in Wisconsin. He said he had not written home since he left six years before. When the revival campaign began this young man was in the business college, but he had been attending the meetings and had become so convinced of sin that he could not rest day or night, and when he came forward he had not been to school for a week.

I said to him, "Why don't you go back and make restitution and ask the man's forgiveness?" He acknowledged that he was well able to do so, so far as finances were concerned but he was afraid he might have to serve a term in the penitentiary. I said to him, "No doubt the man would forgive you, but even though it meant a few years in the penitentiary you cannot afford not to be right with God at any cost. But he would not surrender and say that he was willing to do it. He went out of the tabernacle one of the most dejected-looking young men I think I ever saw.

Remember, sinner friend, God does not refuse you forgiveness until you have righted the wrongs of the past, for in some cases that would take months and sometimes years, but He does demand a willing mind. He accepts the will for the deed until you are able to do it, and as soon as the will is surrendered there comes the consciousness of God's forgiveness, though it may take weeks or months to put yourself right with man. The next night, after I had been speaking personally with those who were forward and the service was dismissed, I noticed a young man coming toward me, his face lighted up with a smile of joy. At first I did not recognize him, for he was so changed. But as he spoke I saw it was the young man who had gone out of the tabernacle under such a cloud the night before. As he shook my hand with a grasp that showed an earnest determination, he said, "Mr. Lowry, it's all right now, I have surrendered and I am sure God has forgiven me. I am going back home and make things right. I take the 12 o'clock train tomorrow." Yes the Lord had accepted the will for the deed, and he went on his way rejoicing.

Be sure your sin will find you out by physical laws. No one need walk far down the street of any town to see that this is true. See the physical wrecks, on every side. See the countenances marked with sins of lust, licentiousness and the fiendish liquor appetite. Take even the sin of anger. It disorders a man's blood, stomach and his brain nerves. Professor Gates claims to have discovered more than forty injurious products which are produced in the blood by bad emotions, such as envy, hatred, etc. These elements, he asserts, are life depressing and poisonous, but on the other hand, the opposite feelings which are expressed in goodness and kindness, are filled with physical elements favorable to health. A student of human nature can easily read a man's character correctly from what is written in the countenance.

RAILROAD RATES WORRY CONGRESS

Wide Difference of Opinion Over Proposed Increase.

MEASURE NONPARTISAN ONE

Congress Has a Rival in the Daughters of American Revolution, Who Hold Lively Debates—Many Candidates in Georgia For Vacant Places in Senate—Kenyon a "Reformer."

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, April 22.—[Special.]—Railroad rates and business is a subject which is giving concern to officials and legislators. The interstate commerce commission has been considering the application of the railroads for a 5 per cent increase. It seemed for a time that that increase might be granted, but while the subject was pending the matter came up in the senate, and Senator Cummins of Iowa vigorously opposed any increase.

While Senator Cummins was talking against an increase in freight rates another distinguished Republican senator was telling me that it seemed likely that unless something was done for the railroads many would go into the hands of receivers and business would be greatly disturbed. There is a wide difference of opinion on the subject of railroads and corporations and what the government ought to do in regard to them.

Congress Has a Rival. In its squabbles and bickerings and differences congress has a rival. The Daughters of the American Revolution are holding their annual meeting, and that means a debating club that is equally as interesting as congress, and in some respects it beats congress, because they do conclude after a time. While it lasts the D. A. R. furnishes more interest than congress, save on a particular field day, like that when the canal bill was passed.

Outside Information. Assistant Secretary Roosevelt of the navy department gave out what might be called "outside information," when he announced from the Pacific coast that the American battleship fleet would go through the canal some time this summer. This was news to the people in Washington, who have had an idea that it would be late this year or some time next year before the canal could accommodate the American battleships.

A Large Candidate Crop. The Georgia candidate crop is equal to the peach crop, according to reports received in Washington. There are two senators to be elected in Georgia this year and there seems to be any number of ambitious men in the state who think that they would like to serve in the senate. As one man remarked, "Georgia has more politics to the square inch than any other southern state." One reason why a seat in the senate from a state like Georgia is desirable, is because a man once settled there is almost sure to remain for a great many years.

Tackling the Rules. Congressman Delrick of Massachusetts, has decided that the rules of the house need amending, especially the "gag rule." If his proposed amendment should be adopted, whenever the gag rule is proposed its strangling operations will be less drastic, giving minority members an opportunity to offer amendments and also an opportunity for every member of the house to have at least ten minutes in debate. The Massachusetts member was not altogether satisfied with the way the canal tolls repeal was rushed through the house.

"Young Reformer Kenyon." The "elder statesmen" are referring to Senator Kenyon of Iowa as "the young reformer" because Kenyon wants to change some of the rules of the senate. A new senator is apt to get himself disliked in any attempt he makes to change the rules. If the rules of the senate are to be changed it should be left in the hands of those who are supposed to have all the wisdom on the subject of senate procedure, and a man like Kenyon, who has only been in the senate three or four years, is not expected to be one of that kind.

An Assistant Leader. Congressman Stafford of Wisconsin is becoming an assistant minority leader in the house. It is true that Jim Mann selected Burke of South Dakota for that position, but Burke spent considerable time in the west fixing himself for the senate, and meanwhile Stafford has jumped into the arena and is on hand with his "I reserve the right to object" and also straightout objections to requests of different members for unanimous consent. Stafford is giving almost as much attention to the details of the business of the house as the minority leader.

In the Limelight. We are not going to lose sight of James Hamilton Lewis, the interesting senator from Illinois. It is possible that his various legislative schemes and propositions will not bear fruit right away, but they will make talk, and that is an important feature in a congressional career. Ever since he came to congress from Washington, more than fifteen years ago, Jim Hamilton Lewis has not allowed himself to be lost to the public eye.

Thoughtful and Saving. When a well known comedian was appearing at a music hall in one of the Scottish cities the prices were put up. A man explained to a friend that he had gone to the hall with his wife intending to go into the pit and had found that 18 pence was being charged instead of a shilling. "Of course you didn't go in?" said the friend. "Oh, yes; I went in, but I paid them out for their greed. I sent my wife home for her lost sixpence by it!"—London Mail.

Overland and Ford Cars

Give you the most value for the money of any cars built. These two companies make immense numbers of cars and each company makes but one model, thereby saving thousands of dollars. The commissions allowed agents are the smallest of any cars sold, being only 15 percent. Other car makers allow 20, 25 and some 33 percent. The only reason that an agent can handle Overlands and Fords today is the large volume of cars sold. We sold 30 Fords last year and bought 40 for this year. We sold 10 Overlands last year and bought 20 this year, and have taken one half of our season's allotment already. Come in and examine the 1914 models, ride in them, and compare them with other cars costing many dollars more and you will then see for yourself. Overlands $950, or $1075 with Gray & Davis self starter and generator. Ford touring cars $544. All cars sold F. O. B. factories. If you want a car you can get it this afternoon—no waiting.
